DFW Airport Badge Revalidation is Required

Issued: 2/12/2020
Effective: 2/12/2020
Impacts: All badge holders with an old-style blue or yellow SIDA badge

TSA has notified DFW Airport that because of an excess of unaccountable badges, a badge revalidation is required.

To comply with this TSA requirement, Access DFW must validate all old-style blue and yellow SIDA badges (see examples below) with an expiration date between 4/1/2020 and 2/26/2021. No other badges are required to take part in this process.

We will begin this process on 2/12/2020 and our deadline to complete the revalidation is 3/31/2020.

Your employees who are required to have their badges revalidated are listed in the attached document. Please ensure they come to Access DFW in Terminal D, D22 Upper Level (near the Grand Hyatt), with their current badge as soon as possible.

We encourage badge holders to make an appointment, but they can also come in as a walk-in (instructions at right).

As a reminder, badges can be renewed within 60 days of the badge expiration date and will appear on your dashboard. Eligible renewals can be processed (with the normal renewal fee) in lieu of revalidation. We recommend this action be taken to prevent duplicate trips to Access DFW.

During the revalidation process, Access DFW will confirm the badge holder is in possession of their badge and affix a unique, serialized, tamper-proof hologram sticker to the employee’s badge. There is no charge for this revalidation.

Please relay the importance of this revalidation to your required employees. Any old-style yellow or blue badges that do not have a sticker as of March 31, 2020 will be suspended. A reinstatement fee of $162 will be charged. (A non-returned badge fee of $120 will also be charged if the badge is not returned to our office within 5 business days).
